

Please be assured that we are closely monitoring the emerging situation with the Coronavirus (COVID-19). Our teams will continue to work remotely, and we will remain contactable by telephone and email. A list of all our lawyers DDI numbers be found here. This will ensure we can continue to help our clients and contacts. Any changes will be publicised through our website and other social media channels. We will also contact our clients directly to provide an update upon all ongoing matters.

To safeguard our clients and colleagues, we are following and adhering to the latest NHS and Department of Health guidelines. We have recently posted the following additional measures to help minimise the risk of catching or spreading the Coronavirus (COVID-19):

1. Social Distancing due to COVID-19 Pandemic

Whilst continuing to work and service your legal needs, we are adhering to the government's guidelines on Social Distancing in order to minimise the spread of COVID-19 and safeguard our clients, colleagues and the wider communities we serve. Consequently, we will not be able to accept walk-in appointments for the time being. Read more here.

2. Remote meetings

Where appropriate, we also offer comprehensive facilities to enable meetings to be conducted remotely such as telephone conference instead of face to face meetings.

3. Brief reminder of NHS hygiene advice

Strictly observe the guidelines for self-isolation. Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 15-20 seconds. If soap and water are not available, use a hand sanitiser (available in all of our offices).

4. Recent travel

You may need to get medical advice if you've recently travelled to the UK from somewhere with a higher risk of Coronavirus as listed here.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any queries or comments.

Very best wishes

Guy Longhurst

Managing Partner